

Some words in the English language cannot be sounded out. We call these words, 'tricky words' and they have to be learned by sight. The children have been introduced to these words at school but also need to practise recognising them at home. We enclose two copies so that you can play pairs or snap.

was

you

they

my

by

all

are

sure

pure